I was excited when I learned that Rhone River Massage was going to start treating veterans through the VA's Community Care program and added an acupuncturist, Dr. Catherine DiMaggio, to the team. I have seen Dr. DiMaggio twice so far and am very happy with her services. She is very professional and knowledgeable; and I like her holistic approach. Her treatments are more specific to the client, rather than the one size fits all. I will continue her treatments and recommend her to other veterans dealing with chronic pain.

I've been going to Aleta for years now. I've followed her wherever she goes because I won't go to anyone else. She knows her muscle anatomy which has been important to me as a competitive lifter. She can get deep into the muscle tissue and can feel the areas that need extra attention. She is also incredibly warm and welcoming. I have recommended her to all my friends and will continue to recommend her to anyone that asks without hesitation!
